Bernardo, principal of Ferdman Consulting, has focused his career on supporting organizations to use their diversity to achieve better business results. He works with organizational leaders and employees to foster inclusion, to develop and implement effective ways of using everyone's talents and contributions, and to build inclusive behavior and multicultural competencies on the part of individuals, teams, and the whole organization. A Board Certified Coach and native Spanish speaker, Bernardo has extensive international experience.

Bernardo works with organizations, groups, and individuals to improve performance and leadership and to foster inclusion, focusing on assessment, coaching, dialogue, facilitation, and learning in the context of diversity. A sought-after speaker, Bernardo has designed training and worked with managers and executives to support their professional and leadership development and with organizations to develop effective strategies for diversity and inclusion. He has designed and facilitated dozens of workshops, meetings, and other events, including serving as lead co-facilitator for CaliforniaSpeaks, a statewide conversation on healthcare reform. Bernardo is a member of the Diversity Collegium (a think tank of diversity practitioners) and was a network associate with AmericaSpeaks. While working with the Kaleel Jamison Consulting Group (1989-2002), he helped clients enhance both high performance and inclusion. As a senior consultant with Orbital Solutions, Inc. (2001-2006) he focused on assessments, leadership team development, executive coaching, and organizational optimization at various international locations, including Spain, Italy, and Brazil. With Chaos Management, UCLA, UCSD, and Ascent-Leading Multicultural Women to the Top he has worked to develop Latino/Latina leaders and other multicultural leaders in both corporate and non-profit settings. At Ferdman Consulting, he focuses on building inclusive leadership practices to bring out the best in the organization and its members. Bernardo's workshops focus on exploring the practice and challenges of inclusion, on authentic and effectively engaging in conflict, and on bringing one's whole self to work.

Bernardo has been a university professor since 1986; he has broad knowledge of theory, research, and practice in diversity and inclusion, organization development, cross-cultural management/leadership, and Latinos/as in the workplace. He has published extensively and regularly makes presentations and conducts workshops for a range of audiences on these topics. His book, Diversity at Work: The Practice of Inclusion (Wiley, 2014), part of SIOP's Professional Practice Series, provides a state-of-the-art, research-based understanding of inclusion and how to systematically create it, foster it, and navigate its challenges. He has also served in various administrative roles, including a term as Program Director. Alliant International University awarded him its prestigious Provost's Pillar Award for Applied Research and Scholarship (2014) and the Marshall Goldsmith School of Management Outstanding International Scholar-Practitioner Award (2006). He received the 2014 Janet Chusmir Distinguished Service Award from the Academy of Management's Gender and Diversity in Organizations Division, the 2011 Trailblazer Award from the Ph.D. Project's Management Doctoral Students Association, and the 1991 Gordon Allport Intergroup Relations Prize from the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues.

Inclusion means everyone's voice matters.
